1. A source of inspiration: Creativity abounds in Austria's westernmost region

Keen to experience new soundscapes, go on architecture trails, enjoy time out in nature or savour culinary delights? Vorarlberg is full of destinations to explore and things to do. And what's more, a well-developed public transport system will take you everywhere you want to go.

Well-connected

No need for a car when visiting Vorarlberg, as destinations in the region are easily accessible by train or bus. All schedules have been smartly coordinated, and you can take your bike with you on most trains. Using public transport also comes with lots of extra benefits. A number of event tickets as well as museum tickets purchased online include the trip to and from the venue on public transport within Vorarlberg. Among others, the scheme includes the Bregenz Festival, Kunsthaus Bregenz, vorarlberg museum and the Vorarlberg Landestheater in Bregenz. The same applies if you book a round trip, special cruise or event cruise on one of the Vorarlberg Lines ships or the historic motor ship OESTERREICH or steam ship Hohentwiel. Trains and buses make getting to numerous other events and destinations easy as pie. Hop-on-hop-off is the motto for exploring all of Vorarlberg.

Get moving

Vorarlberg's great variety of mountains and valleys offers prime destinations for hiking and biking aficionados. In many places, cableways and similar means of transport will take you up or down a mountain in a jiffy. Choose from a plethora of themed hiking paths that tell stories or feature interesting artwork. Marvel at landslide-inspired sculptures along the Geotrail Rindberg in Bregenzerwald or the installations set up along the Gauertal AlpKulTour trail in Montafon. Whether you prefer mountain bikes or e-bikes, you will find one for hire nearly everywhere, along with an extensive offer of guided tours. Downhillers will find exciting trails to practice their sport, for instance in Bikepark Brandnertal. In the interest of nature conservation and animal welfare, be mindful and follow the guidance of the "Respektiere deine Grenzen" campaign.

New perspectives

Vorarlberg's towns and villages are a testament to the region's outstanding architecture, design and craftsmanship: contemporary, bold, clean-lined and sustainable are attributes that spring to mind. Timber is the building material of choice here. If you plan to go on Architecture Trails, you can choose from seven different routes, all of which can be easily undertaken by public transport, too. On these tours, you will encounter remarkable buildings as well as innovative Vorarlberg craftsmanship and design. Another way to gain insights into Vorarlberg's architecture and culture are the twelve themed "Umgang Bregenzerwald" trails or the "Walser Kulturwege" trails. The Werkraum Building in Andelsbuch in Bregenzerwald showcases creative craftsmanship.

Culinary delights

Be it in traditional taverns, mountain inns, alpine huts or one of the many award-winning restaurants renowned for their creative cuisine, you will always find excellent food on your plate anywhere in Vorarlberg. Chefs rely on regionally sourced produce wherever possible. Alpine farmsteads and dairies produce the cheese that makes "Kässpätzle", a traditional local dish, such a pleasure for the taste buds. Fresh fish comes directly from Lake Constance or from sustainably managed fish farms. Fruit and vegetables are grown on the fertile land around Lake Constance. Hand-crafted delicacies, from chocolates to fine spirits, abound. Farm shops and weekly markets in towns and villages offer all kinds of special treats.

Heartfelt hospitality

Vorarlberg is known both for its well-appointed hotels, most of which are family-run, and for its hosts, who make sure you will have a pleasurable and safe stay. Many hotels combine traditional architecture with contemporary touches, with interior design features supplied by innovative craftspeople. Recent upgrades often include spacious and light-filled spa areas. B&Bs, holiday homes and apartments offer their guests equally stylish interiors.

Cultural pursuits

Opera on Lake Constance, pop music in Feldkirch, jazz in Montafon: Vorarlberg has a lot on offer for culture vultures. The Bregenz Festival with its open-air opera performances on the spectacular lake-side stage is the highlight of the season. Culture picnics take participants out and about. The poolbar pop culture festival, which is staged partly out in the open, partly in Feldkirch's indoor pool turned festival venue, is a hotspot for cultural discourse, design and live music.

Classical music and song are the focus of the Schubertiade concerts held in Hohenems and Schwarzenberg in Bregenzerwald. The Montafoner Resonanzen present a diverse selection of concerts ranging from folk music to jazz. Lech Zürs am Arlberg has jazz and classical music on its cultural menu. Literaricum Lech takes attendants on a journey through the world of literature. FAQ Bregenzerwald is a forum cum festival, with culinary outings to boost. Many other events, small and large, round off Vorarlberg's summer festival season.

Thought-provoking exhibitions

Vorarlberg's museums and exhibition spaces give visitors access to a range of different experiences. Changing exhibitions have lovers of contemporary art flocking to Kunsthaus Bregenz. What is more, this architectural gem of a building is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year. vorarlberg museum, likewise Bregenz-based, has made "beauty" its major theme. Families and those with a penchant for experiments are drawn to inatura, the interactive nature show in Dornbirn. The Jewish Museum in Hohenems features changing exhibitions on current issues, as does the Women's Museum in Hittisau, the only one of its kind in Austria. Just a few miles down the road, the new Museum of Baroque Master Builders in Au presents the inspiring history of the local master builders who in the 17th and 18th centuries ventured out to erect some 800 baroque buildings in Southern Germany, Switzerland and Alsace.

Astonishing encounters

Now what is this? – a question that may have popped into the mind of many a visitor out on a stroll or bike ride. There are places in Vorarlberg where you can happen upon astonishing artwork in public spaces. Check out the promenade along Lake Constance in Bregenz, the Säger bridge in Dornbirn, the Silvretta Bielerhöhe mountain top in Montafon or Lech Zürs am Arlberg, where US artist James Turrell created his Skyspace Lech.

Educational trail on industry, Dornbirn

The history of Dornbirn has been dominated by textile factories. A 6.5 km themed educational trail called "City Traces. Industry and Change" will be developed by late 2022 in order to shed light on this part of history. At 15 stations and via an app, interested hikers can find out more about the historic factory buildings and what these companies achieved along the way.

Habakuk's Puppet Atelier in Bludenz

Kasperl, Helmi or Tintifax, the magician – these used to be well-known childhood TV stars for many an Austrian. The puppets were created by Arminio Rothstein, better known as Habakuk the clown. In early 2022, the collection found a new home in Bludenz: a workshop where the puppets are being carefully restored. If you want to take a look at the puppets, you can visit the puppet atelier and, depending on how old you are, take a trip down memory lane. www.habakuk.at

25 Years Kunsthaus Bregenz

Kunsthaus Bregenz (KUB) was inaugurated in July 1997 with an exhibition of US-American artist James Turrell. Throughout the years, not only the exhibitions, but also the architecture have grabbed wide attention: the building, a glass-sheathed cube-like structure, was designed by the renowned Swiss architect Peter Zumthor.

Having meanwhile become one of Europe's leading museums of contemporary art, KUB is celebrating its 25th anniversary with a series of events and a presence at the Venice Biennale.
